MAYOR ADAMS RENOMINATED

Republicans Nominate Ticket by a Large Vote. No Opposition. Mayor Adams Accepts Nomination and Predicts Election.

The republicans at their caucus on Saturday afternoon and evening placed in nomination the ticket which will be presented to the voters at the city election, Dec. 14.

Considering the fact that there was no opposition to the city committee's ticket, there was a very large vote cast, and a good crowd present when it was declared.

Chairman Dr. F. S. Towle presided, and George Palfrey acted as secretary, while on the check-list were Harry Palfrey for ward one, H. B. Dow for ward two, Frank Newick for ward three, A. H. Locke for ward

Charles E. Bailey, 367.
Arthur H. Locke, 367.
William H. White, 367.

For Board of Public Works.

Alfred H. Howard, for 3 years, 364.
John Newick, for 2 years, 365.
Harry E. Boynton, for 1 year, 366.

For Assessors of Taxes for Three Years.

Charles E. Hodgdon, 367.

For Board of Instruction for Three Years.

Alfred Gooding, 367.
Mrs. Ida P. Benfield, 366.
Michael E. Long, 367.
Fernando W. Hartford, 365.
Wallace Hackett, 1.
John Fender, 1.

The city committee was authorized to fill any vacancies.

Chairman Towle appointed the following committee to notify Mayor Adams of his nomination: H. B. Yeaton, A. H. Locke, Thomas A. Ward, John Newick and Eben Blaisdell, and they returned in a few minutes with Mayor Adams.

In accepting the nomination for the second time he expressed his thanks for the honor and at the same time thanked the caucus in behalf of the others on the ticket. It was, he said, a big vote, where there was no opposition, and it was not personal but simply an expression of confidence by the voters in the party which had made a lower tax rate possible. He gave his promise that he would do four and Frank Smart for ward five.

There was a steady vote from the opening of the caucus at four until the close at eight o'clock. For the first time since women have voted in school elections, not a woman appeared on Saturday.

At the close, Chairman Towle appointed as tellers, H. B. Dow, William Shuttlesworth and H. A. Clark, and they announced the following vote:

For Mayor.
Edward H. Adams, 368.

For Councilmen at Large.
B. Percy Stoddard, 365.

PARENTS AND CHILDREN FIND ONE ANOTHER

Three Family Reunions After Many Long Years of Separation

Blideford, Me., Nov. 29.—At least one of Blideford's citizens had a happy Thanksgiving and that was C. W. Poole, who lives on the Pool road, nearly to Fortunes Rocks. The cause of the unusual joyousness was the fact that Mr. Poole had as a guest his mother whom he had not seen nor heard from for twenty-five years. This, it would seem, was sufficient reason for a thankful Thanksgiving.

When a lad he was "bound out" until he became of age. During this period he saw very little of his mother and at last lost all trace of her. After becoming of age he made every effort to locate his lost parent but failed, and was at last forced to believe that she was dead.

Recently Mrs. Poole, his wife, heard reports which led her to believe that the missing woman was still alive, and advertised for her and learned that the elder Mrs. Poole was living in Kennebunk.

The verification of this report was an easy matter and the result is that Mr. and Mrs. Poole were united.

Mrs. Poole is now over 70 years of age and her joy, as well as that of her son may be imagined when they once more greeted each other.

New Jersey and Germany

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 29.—Mrs. Florence Kinney of this city and her daughter are soon to be reunited after being apart more than twenty-six years. When her daughter Mary was eight months old her mother took her to New York to see Mrs. Kinney's sister, Miss Katherine Rice, who was about to sail for Germany.

When Mrs. Kinney was on the steamer it was found some shopping had been overlooked. The Trenton woman left the baby aboard while she hurried off to make the purchases. Upon her return she found the steamer had sailed and her sister had been forced to take little Mamma along. Miss Rice became so attached to the baby that after much pleading through correspondence Mrs. Kinney permitted her to become Mamma's foster mother. The girl, now the wife of a prosperous German merchant, did not know until recently that her mother was living.

Buffalo and Chicago

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Henry Deplidge, for twenty-four years separated from his children and supposed by them to be dead, walked into the house of one of his daughters here Sunday.

Mr. Deplidge is seventy-nine years old and for half a century called the great lakes, first as a common sailor and later as mate and captain. He retired six years ago and has been living in Buffalo. Mr. Deplidge decided a few days ago to come to Chicago and search for his sons and daughters.

Others of the troupe are Cecil Lugin, Alfred Connebear, Fred Beaudoin, Karl Magee William Dewey, Howard Lockwood, Albert Burdette, Bessie Johnson, Louise Willard, Grace Fries, Marie LeClair, Bonny Macdonald.

Five vaudeville specialties and new moving pictures changing at every production will be given between the acts.

"The Circus Man"

Klaw & Erlanger have sent their first big production of the theatrical year, and the first real novelty of the season to the Boston Theatre, beginning Monday, November 29. It is "The Circus Man," and Maclyn Arbuckle will be seen as "Fighting Hime" Look. This comedy drama has been evolved from Holman P. Day's story "Squire Phil" by Eugene W. Presbury, one of the most skilled writers for the stage in America and it comes here after prosperous engagements in Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Pittsburg, Buffalo, Baltimore and Washington.

With its scenes laid in the small town of Palmyra, Maine, and its story peopled with denizens of that region, the delighted atmosphere of New England is once again transferred to the boards of a theatre, recalling the triumphs and the charms of "Way Down East," "The Old Homestead," "The County Fair" and other plays of the like. The quaint characters of the Maine folk are to some extent indicated by the names assigned to them:—"Fighting Hime" Look; "Squire" Phil; Klebe Willard; "Hard Times" Wharf; "Figger Four" Avery; "Cap" Nymph Beddiss; Dow Babb; Wat Mayo; Uncle Buck and Amazeen, being some of the personages.

One of the important features of the production will be the new American soubrette, Imogene, a live Ceylon elephant of unusual intelligence and much power of fascination.

Maclyn Arbuckle's name has gone abroad in the land by reason of his wonderful successes as Jim Hackett in "The County Chairman" and "Slim" Hoover in "The Round Up," both of which parts he created. Now he comes with a third to make a trilogy of fine roles—that of "Fighting Hime" Look, the circus man.

The phenomenal engagement of "Three Twins" ended with the performances of Saturday afternoon and evening with a record of eight weeks of constant great audiences, many of them of a capacity character.

DOVER DOINGS.

The body of Mrs. H. A. Badling, granddaughter of Mrs. James M. Dyer of this city, who died on Thursday at Bridgeport Conn. was brought here on Saturday evening. The burial service was held at the grave in Pine Hill cemetery at 10 a. m. on Sunday.

Mrs. Harriet N. Gordon, a native of South Berwick, Me., died on Friday night at the Stratford county almshouse, aged 81. The funeral was held at undertaking rooms on Locust street Sunday afternoon and the burial was in South Berwick.

The funeral of Smith C. Page was held at the home on Broadway East, Sunday afternoon, Rev. Benjamin F. Eaton officiating. The burial was in the Grand Army lot in Pine Hill cemetery. The bearers were James Wood, Patrick Rossiter, Charles M. Jones and George Ball.

The body of the man who was killed by a train near Newfields Friday evening, and which was brought to this city, has not as yet been claimed. The only means of identification consisted of the tattoo marks, "Alfred Cirrilo, Nov. 1861," which were found on the right forearm and a pay envelope issued by the Williams company of Williamsville, Conn. The envelope showed that the man had drawn a balance of $5 for labor on Oct. 16. The authorities of Williamsville have been notified in the hopes that relatives of the dead man may be found, but no word has been received as yet to show that there are any living there. When his pockets were searched, the man had only eleven cents. It is stated at Exeter that he there gave the name of Cirrilo and was one of a party of four who left that town for Newfields on a drinking bout.

Prof. A. E. French, instructor of music in the public schools, will have charge of the choral society, which was formed last year for the study of sacred and secular music by the great composers. The society is similar to the Handel, Haydn society of Boston. The first meeting of the year was held Sunday afternoon in the vestry of the Washington street church, and there was a large attendance. Plans for the coming season were formulated, and it is thought that a chorus of 100 voices will assemble for the work during the winter.

Arthur C. Bennett Had a Bad Fall

Exeter, Nov. 29.—By the breaking of a ladder on Saturday Arthur C. Bennett, a painter, fell from the gable end of the two and one-half story Halcyon building on Water street to the concrete sidewalk. In the fall he struck the iron support of a projecting sign. He was taken to the cottage hospital where his condition is serious.

Dr. Edith C. Varney of Lynn, the youngest daughter of Dr. Albert H. Varney, sailed on Thursday for Egypt where she will pass the winter.

Three ice hockey rinks are being built on the old campus where the baseball diamond was situated, for the use of the academy students this winter. It is not probable that the school will be represented by a hockey team this year, but class teams, dormitories and organizations of the school will be represented, and a series of games arranged. The rinks are to be of ample dimensions, and the banks are to be of earth and boards. Rinks were constructed last year, but adverse weather conditions and other obstacles interfered with the progress of the sport. If it proves a success this year there will be a regular hockey team organized, new each which will compete with other teams. The game is expected to be in full swing at the beginning of the winter term in January.

Dr. Edward S. Brown of the Episcopal Theological seminary of Cambridge, Mass., spoke before the Christian fraternity at the academy Sunday evening in the place of Dr. William G. Thayer, headmaster of St. Mark's school at Southboro, Mass., who was compelled to cancel his engagement. Dr. Brown has been in close touch with school and college life and thus gave a most interesting talk.

The members of the class of 1895 at the academy are planning to celebrate their twentieth anniversary at the commencement, next June. Under the leadership of E. O. Holter and W. B. Thompson the class will give a dinner at the Metropolitan hotel in New York tonight to arouse interest.

A NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY

A chemist who became possessed of the conviction that the old method of taking internal remedies to cure skin diseases was erroneous, has, after painstaking investigation, discovered that an extract from a particular part of a well known tree possessed superior antiseptic and curative properties, and exerted a wonderful beneficial effect on the skin tissues. It was, however, found that this valuable vegetable extract possessing such desirable qualities was difficult to compound with other ingredients necessary to present it in a form convenient to use. After further investigations and experiments a method of special treatment was devised by which this seemingly insurmountable difficulty was overcome, resulting in a unique combination of ingredients possessing to a marked degree valuable therapeutic properties, the like of which has never before been produced. This important product is known as Cadum, and is now offered to the public at a price which brings it within the reach of even the poor man. Since its recent introduction Cadum has cured numerous cases of chronic eczema, and many other unsightly, irritating, and distressing skin troubles, and this after other treatments have signally failed. Cadum stops the terrible itching of eczema at once, and begins the healing process with the first application. Its action is still more remarkable in less serious skin troubles, such as rash, pimples, blotches, scaly skin, sores, itching piles, eruptions, chafes, scaly skin, blackheads, scabs, etc. Surprising results are often obtained by an overnight treatment. Many of the cures effected by Cadum may be truly described as remarkable. It is an antiseptic that destroys disease producing germs, allays inflammation, and exerts a wonderful soothing and healing influence on the skin tissues. Cadum is sold at 10c and 25c a box, by all druggists.

STATE COLLEGE

On the night of Dec. 18 there will occur the 125th anniversary of the capture of the gunpowder from Fort William and Mary (now Fort Constitution), which was the first overt act of the Revolutionary war, antedating the affair at Lexington and Concord by four months; and the Portsmouth act was an attack upon the British power, while the Massachusetts fight was in the defensive, the British doing the attacking. So the New Hampshire men are entitled to at least equal credit with the Massachusetts men.

Paul Revere came down to Portsmouth from Boston, on Dec. 13, 1774 and informed the patriots that British warships in Boston were preparing to come to the fort and get the powder, so John Langdon and John Sullivan led the companies, which removed the powder and the cannon and guns two or three days before the British men-of-war Scarborough arrived in Portsmouth lower harbor from Boston. The powder was removed on the night of the 14th and the cannon and guns on the night of the 15th; it was too big a job to do all in one night.

Having got the stuff out of the fort the next and very important question was where to conceal it so that the British could not land a force and recapture it. The British men of war could come up to Dover Point easily, as the water is very deep. So the powder had to be removed up beyond that point, and John Sullivan and a big crew of men took charge of the job of removing it further inland. They got it up to Fox Point all right, but just then a tremendous cold snap occurred and the Oyster river froze over solid, and that ice had to be cut by the sturdy men to get the boats up to Durham Falls where the powder was first stored under the meeting house, which stood where the Sullivan monument now stands. From there it was carted as rapidly as possible to various places of safety in the neighborhood. The cannon and small arms were taken care of in a similar way. All, later, were used in fighting the battles of the Revolution.

Durham men were in it strong hence it would be the proper thing for the citizens over there to observe the anniversary just as Lexington and Concord never fail to observe the anniversary of "the shot that was heard around the world." There may have been some excuse for the nonobservance of the powder anniversary in the past, but at present, with two hundred wide awake college students there should be no excuse; these students in military array could do the celebrating in a very commendable style, only give them a proper leadership. The young professors are capable of devising the proper way to celebrate, and take the lead, if President Gilpin, Professor Scott, and others could not attend to it. Of course December weather is not always very agreeable for an outdoor celebration, but General Sullivan and his heroes did not mind cutting ice to get the powder up the river, so it would seem that a company of stalwart college students would dare to be as brave against the weather as Sullivan and his men were.

These suggestions have aroused much interest in the student body.

everything to see that the same policy of honest government was carried out this year. He spoke of the excellent work of the present city government, which had been able to keep the tax rate the same, despite the increase of over $12,000 in state taxes. Not only had they been able to do that, but had the past year reduced the city debt $49,000, making a total of $205,000 that the debt had been reduced the past five years, by clean and honest service by the republican party.

GREYNA GREEN SOON CLOSES

Rhode Island Loses Its Distinction In a Few Days

BAN PUT ON ELOPERS

Five Days Must Elope After Marriage. Licenses Are Obtained Before They Can Become Effective—Weddings In Providence Likely to Be More Than Five Hundred Less Next Year as Result of New Law

Providence, Nov. 29.—"Repentance at leisure" as a consequence of hasty marriages will have far less connection with this city and state after Wednesday next than in the liberal past.

On Dec. 1, Rhode Island and Providence drop the application "Gretna Green" and young couples lose the opportunity for speedy and quiet marriages by an act of delay passed by the last general assembly.

In substance, this provides that marriage licenses cannot legally become effective until five days after they are obtained. This, it is believed by those who scoured the adoption of the act, will prove to be a prohibitive restraint upon the young couples who in past years have flocked to this state as a certain haven for marriage seekers.

For years Rhode Island has been to New England—Boston particularly—what Gretna Green was to England in the eighteenth century.

It is believed that the local marriage records, not figuring those of other places in the state, will be less by more than 500 next year of the average annual number of marriages.

The enactment of the new law will tend to stifle the income of many local ministers, several in particular, who have made a specialty of caring for the speedy needs of "runaway" couples, losing a really considerable portion of their yearly income.

The cabin who have for years made a specialty of hustling young couples from the train to the registrar's office and from thence to the minister, will also lose a desirable patronage. Hotels, too, will miss the couples somewhat, but as rule their visits were flighty, stops seldom being made here overnight.

During the last fiscal year 681 couples from places in states other than Rhode Island were married in Providence. Of this number 529 were from Massachusetts. Most, if not all, were elopements or hasty marriages. In addition there were performed in this city 166 marriages in which one of the parties was from Massachusetts. These may, or may not, have been runaway matches. At Woonsocket 40 couples from places outside of Rhode Island were married. In other places throughout the state probably 100 more such marriages were performed.

Under the conditions and laws which will be ineffective after Wednesday it was a comparatively easy matter for young people to be married here. Blanket explanations were required as a matter of form when either of the parties appeared under the necessary age, but there have been only a few who came to Rhode Island and returned without the nuptial knot being tied. Often, as it has later developed, one or both of the parties have been several years short of the legal age.

GUNNERS HIT BALLOONS

Targets High In Air Brought to Earth In Interesting Experiment

New York, Nov. 29.—Balloons flying about 1000 feet in the air were burst by big shells from guns at the Fort Hancock proving grounds at Sandy Hook. The balloons were used as targets to help Uncle Sam solve the problem of fighting aerial enemies, and the test was a big success.

Picked gunners manipulated the big upright cannon with such deadly aim that the balloons soon completely collapsed and were drawn or fell back to earth in fatters.

Uncle Sam's Big Payroll.—Washington, Nov. 29.—The personnel of Uncle Sam's establishment is increasing by leaps and bounds, the grand total of all federal employees at present being approximately 370,065, as against 306,141 in 1907.

Boy Killed by Playmate.—New York, Nov. 29.—Joseph Rhode, 12 years old, of Williamsburg, was shot and instantly killed by Harold Van Houten, while they were struggling for possession of a loaded revolver.

ASTOR DIVORCE SCORED

Boston Pastor Says That Colonel's Death Would Be No Loss

Boston, Nov. 29.—Rev. Corland Myers, in a sermon delivered at Tremont Temple, scored the divorce courts of the United States and designated them as the ruin of the American home. At the same time he alluded to the divorce of John Jacob Astor and the excitement caused by the supposed loss of his yacht.

"Here," he said, "is a man with millions who goes into the divorce court and divorces his wife, gives her a few millions and goes away again, a renegade, on his yacht, and the United States spent thousands of dollars and plenty of time and money thrashing about to discover the whereabouts of his yacht for fear that he had been lost in a storm."

"God knows there would not have been any loss if he had never found him. If it was a fisherman, life saver or some other fellow in circumstances of that station, there would have been no such action. Yet a man who could secure a divorce behind closed doors, because the testimony was too obscene and filthy to appear in the papers, must be hunted for at whatever cost."

"I hope we may see the day when that scourge, divorce, that destroyer of the American home, will be cast out."

FRENCH OFFICER SHOT

Would-Be Assassin Mistook Him For the Minister of War

Paris, Nov. 29.—An individual having an imaginary grievance against the war department shot and dangerously wounded General Verand on the stairs of the Hotel Continental as the general was entering the hotel.

The man was overpowered and placed under arrest. Later it was learned that he mistook Verand for General Brun, minister of war.

The attempted assassination created a sensation. It occurred a few moments after President Fallieres left the Hotel Bristol nearby, where he was calling on King Manuel. It was first thought that it was an attempt against the life of the president of the republic for the king of Portugal.

Hundreds ran in the direction of the shots, and several officers sprang upon Verand's assailant, who proved to be an Algerian. He was overpowered with difficulty, and was found to be a perfect walking battery of revolvers and daggers.

DEAD PARTRIDGES

SHIPPED IN COFFIN

Scheme Exposed by Game Warden's Dog of Keen Scent

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 29.—An attempt by market hunters to ship 500 partridges in a burial casket from upper Michigan to Milwaukee, in violation of the state game laws, was frustrated by a hunting dog.

Deputy Game Warden Harrington was at the railway station at Flatwood when a rough box containing a coffin was brought in for shipment. While the intending shipper, armed with a death certificate duly signed by a physician, was talking with the ticket agent, the game warden's dog scented the birds, and came to a "point" on the box.

Finally, the dog began pawing at the box. The deputy's suspicions were aroused and an investigation followed. The birds were confiscated and the man who brought them to the station disappeared.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Since his return from the west President Taft has taken to horseback riding. Although the weather has been ideal for golf during the past two weeks, Mr. Taft has visited the links but twice.

TOBIE LE BLANC IS ARRESTED

Refuses to Answer Questions at the Glover Inquest

IN CONTEMPT OF COURT

Charge Upon Which Brother of Murdered Man's Wife Is Held After District Attorney and Judge Try in Vain to Secure Information to Throw Light on Mysterious Tragedy—Victim's Brothers in Conference

Waltham, Mass., Nov. 29.—Although Judge Luce sat for seven hours in the second district court conducting an inquest into the death of Clarence F. Glover, who was shot on the night of Nov. 29 in his laundry, and although a number of witnesses, including the widow of the slain man, were examined by District Attorney Higgins, the mystery which has surrounded this most extraordinary tragedy has not been dispelled.

The most sensational happening of the day was the order of Judge Luce that Tobie Le Blanc, a brother of Mrs. Glover, be locked up for alleged contempt of court.

Tobie Le Blanc had been reported to be in California, but Irene and Lillian Le Blanc, sisters of Hatlie Le Blanc, the young girl who is now in jail on a charge of having murdered Clarence F. Glover, told of having seen Tobie at the Glover house within a short time of the killing, and the state and city police got on his trail.

Deputy Sheriff Jones of Middlesex county found Tobie in the South End, Boston, and brought him out here as a witness.

The house on Main street which Glover bought some months ago, and in which he and his wife were living at the time of the tragedy, is recorded in Tobie's name.

Higgins wanted to ask him how it happened that he held title to this property, and also as to what truth, if any, there is in rumors which have been going around to the effect that Glover and Tobie had been on bad terms personally, and as to the relations which existed between Glover and his wife, Tobie's sister. Also of interest to the district attorney would have been Tobie's statement as to the reports that he was infatuated with Hatlie Le Blanc.

Tobie Le Blanc was called as a witness and it took only a few minutes for the court and the district attorney to realize that they had an unwilling witness to deal with.

Tobie answered the first few questions, as to his name, age and place of residence, but when the district attorney began asking questions tending to reveal the exact conditions of affairs which had existed in the Glover family Tobie refused to answer. He did not plead his constitutional prerogative that to answer the questions would tend to incriminate or degrade him, but merely said: "I won't answer."

Judge Luce spoke to Tobie, kindly at first and then with some sharpness, instructing him that he must answer the questions of the district attorney, unless he claimed to do so would tend to incriminate or degrade him, and that if he did not answer he would be punished for contempt.

Tobie listened to the remarks of the judge with little apparent interest, and when the questions were repeated to him, one after the other, he remained mute.

Finally, when the witness had declared the progress of the inquest a long time, and he showed no indications of receding from his position, the court ordered Le Blanc committed for contempt.

The name of the person suspected by Seymour Glover as the one who murdered his brother is in the possession of Higgins, having been given to him at a conference in his office when all five brothers of the Waltham laundryman were questioned.

Seymour Glover, who is the only brother of the murdered man to appear as a beneficiary under his will, expressed the belief at that time that some one nearer to Clarence F. Glover than Hatlie Le Blanc had fired the shots which caused death, and although he was reluctant to testify at all, he gave the name.

These facts are contained in a statement given out by the five brothers of the murdered William laundryman from the office of their attorney. This statement followed a day of activity on the part of the court and police regarding the case.

DROPS FROM PUBLIC SIGHT

Explorer Cook Slips Quietly and Mysteriously From New York

New York, Nov. 29.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook has dropped from public view. Not even John R. Bradley, whose money was behind his polar explorations, knows where he is. Confiding in only one man and perhaps to his wife, the explorer slipped quietly and mysteriously away.

Charles Wake, an insurance man of this city, appears to be the only one who knows Cook's whereabouts, and he is firm in his resolve to keep his lips sealed until Cook himself sees fit to take the public into his confidence.

In the meantime concern is expressed over Cook's health. Although some of his friends maintain that he has borne up well under the continued strain of lecturing and preparing his data, an intimate associate says that the explorer appeared to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown when he talked with him a few days ago.

THREAT CARRIED OUT

Dwellings of Ludlow Strikers Being Cleared of Their Occupants

Ludlow, Mass., Nov. 29.—In fulfillment of their announced intention of compelling strikers and their families to leave dwellings owned by the company, officials of the Ludlow Manufacturing associates began having writs served. Fifteen company houses were emptied of their contents and the occupants ordered to seek shelter elsewhere.

The strikers, who left the company's jute and hemp products mills late in September as a protest against a new system of work which they claimed meant lower wages for them, announced that they intended to appeal to the town officials to provide dwellings for the families turned out of the company's buildings.

The company will have a number of families ejected from its houses each day until all are removed. Practically all the employees live in company dwellings.

Mme. Steinheil Is Barred From a London Hotel

London, Nov. 29.—Mme. Steinheil, who recently was acquitted in Paris of the charge of murdering her husband, arrived in London Sunday. She traveled under the name of Mme. Dumont.

The woman evaded the crowd of waiting newspaper reporters and proceeded to a hotel. Traced to this place, she declined to see anybody, and the manager of the hotel, upon learning her identity, requested her to leave.

She took a train at Euston station, it is believed, for Liverpool.

WILL FIGHT DE VOE SUIT

Stay of Proceedings Secured by Attorneys For Frank Gould

New York, Nov. 29.—Frank J. Gould, youngest son of Jay Gould, intends to fight the $200,000 "heart balm" suit brought against him by Bessie De Voe, the stage dancer. This fact is admitted by a close personal friend.

Confirmation of the report that service to the suit was made upon Gould just before his departure for Europe two months ago has been secured.

Miss De Voe, who is at present keeping herself secluded from public notice, has just completed a successful engagement in Boston in "The Three Twins."

It is learned that strenuous efforts were made to press the action to trial in the courts, but that a stay was procured by lawyers for Gould.

WHITE HOUSE LASH IS READY

Its Swish Will Be Heard by the Sugar Trust

ITS MANAGERS OWN LITTLE

Careful New Englanders Have Gobbled Up Stock as It Was Unloaded by Men Close to Main Office—Prediction That Investigation by Congress Will Come With a Rush Unless President Bottles His Wrath

Washington, Nov. 29.—There is a kettle heating in the White House for the managers of the sugar trust. Unless something akin to a miracle happens to change President Taft's convictions the men who have been directing the affairs of the American Sugar Refining company will receive an exhortation in his message to congress the like of which no corporation has ever before had.

What Theodore Roosevelt used to say of corporations is confidently expected to sound like an extract from a rhythmic tract when placed beside the personal opinion of William H. Taft as to the acts by which the sugar trust corrupted the employees of the government. He has decided opinions as to where the blame should be laid, and he will make no reservations in his drafting of the English language to make his meaning plain.

Investigation on the part of the government has developed the startling fact that the men who now manage the affairs of the American Sugar Refining company own but a comparatively small percentage of its stocks. Just how this change was brought about and when will be an interesting phase of the congressional investigation.

Curiously enough, it appears to be the careful New Englander who has acquired the sugar stock as the men close to the main office of the trust must have unloaded. It developed that 60 percent of the stock is owned in New England, and there has been something of a panic among the representatives and senators from the states of Yankee land at the prospect of what may follow. Practically one-half of the trust stock, according to the result of the government's investigations, is held by trustees for widows and the legacies of estates.

The president is suspicious of the situation under which it is found that the men in control of the great trust hold so small a percentage of its stock and the distribution of it, which appears to have occurred during a comparatively short time.

Something of the power and vigor of expression which hidden behind the president's smile is likely to make itself felt when he says what he has in mind to say of the operations of the officers of the trust.

This determination on the part of the president will operate to the defeat of the campaign of the department of justice to prevent its evidence being opened through an investigation by congress. Unless this argument can be brought to bear upon the president with sufficient force to bottle his wrath, the action of congress in the sugar investigation will come with a rush.

Some of the men in congress who are least in fear of public opinion do not hesitate to admit that they would not dare place themselves in the position of voting against an investigation, even though they doubt its wisdom during the pendency of the trials.

HOOK CAUGHT IN HIS FACE

Constable Submits to Surgical Operation Under Great Difficulties

Port Jefferson, L. I., Nov. 29.—John Dayton, a constable of this place, was fishing for snapping mackerel and, as he jerked the hook out of the water, it struck him in his face. Another fisherman, who went to his assistance, braced himself in the rocking rowboat, with legs wide apart, and out the hook out with a fishknife. Dayton sat unmoved while his face was being slashed.

"Sorry to hurt you so, Cap'n," said the amateur surgeon.

"S got to come out," said the old salt.

A few more slashes and it was out loose.

CALLS IT REVOLUTION

Zangwill Defends Militant Suffragettes and Predicts Some Shooting London, Nov. 29.—Asked if he considered that the suffragists would be justified in attacking cabinet ministers at functions where royal personages were present, Israel Zangwill, the novelist, said:

"They would be absolutely justified. Revolutions are not made with rose water, and this is revolution. The government has refused to pay attention to peaceful methods."

"These women are justified in doing anything they like, subject to their own risk. I do not take up the stand that they can do what they like and not be punished. Nor do they. They glory in the punishment. It is far in excess of the actual crime—assuming that their actions are a crime. "I am waiting with painful anxiety the moment when someone will be shot on one side or the other. I think such an act legitimate in a revolution. It is also legitimate to hang the person who kills. The action is legitimate on both sides. I cannot see why those who proclaim that might is right object to such procedure."

HAS $18,000 A YEAR

Burnett Tiffany Declares That It Is Not Enough to Live On

New York, Nov. 29.—Burnett Y. Tiffany, son of the late Charles L. Tiffany, was left the portion of $3000 a year, with a proviso that the executors might add $15,000 to this if the young man's habits improved. When he climbed on the water cart the executors complied with the will and he is receiving $18,000.

But the young man who is harvesting his out crop—down wild—avens in a petition to the supreme court, in which he seeks to break the will, that he just can't live on his allowance.

Louis C. and Mrs. Annie T. Mitchell, brother and sister, are contesting the suit.

VON BUELOW'S WIFE

WAS AN OCTOON

Once Prosperous Man Kills Himself Because of Publicity

New Orleans, Nov. 29.—There no longer seems a doubt that Edward W. von Buelow, a cousin of the former chancellor of Germany, has made away with himself. The act, following upon his financial ruin and the breaking up of a happy home he had maintained here for fourteen years, has brought to light a most pathetic and dramatic story.

His fortune was deliberately wrecked, it appears, and his most sacred secret—that his wife was an octoon—was deliberately revealed to the public by enemies he made in cotton speculation.

More than that, he was arrested under the law prohibiting the marriage of whites with persons having a trace of negro blood. And so, penniless, heart-broken and facing a trial, he vanished and it is generally believed, killed himself.

Mrs. von Buelow is an light in complexion as most of the south. Her children are flaxen-haired and blue-eyed little German-Americans.

MISSING FROM GUNBOAT

Nine Men From the Marietta Carried Away During Heavy Weather

Colon, Nov. 29.—Nine men are missing from the United States gunboat Marietta, which is lying off Port Limon, C. R. The gunboat sent out a general alarm by wireless and a request that ships proceeding in that vicinity keep a lookout for her and whereabouts.

The six, which was manned by a crew of four, and the whaleboat, with five men aboard, were carried out to sea in the heavy weather on Friday night. Nothing has been seen or heard of either of the boats since.

A reward is offered by the commander of the Marietta for anyone finding the boats or rescuing the men.

NEW MICROBE CHRISTENED

"Proteus" Responsible For Disease Which Proves Fatal to Babies

Paris, Nov. 29.—Professor Metchnikoff, the head of the Pasteur institute, has arrived at the conclusion that gastro-enteritis in infants is chiefly due to a microbe christened the "proteus," which is found on fruits and vegetables and in butter and cheese.

Mothers, he says, frequently transmit the microbes to children by handling them or their nursing bottles with soiled fingers. Soap is the remedy.

HOLIDAY SHOPPING

Our citizens, aside from a few growlers and knockers, political and otherwise, are all interested in the advancement and growth of Portsmouth.

There is no better way to assist Portsmouth than by trading at home.

Here are a few suggestions:
1—Trade at Home.
2—Patronize Herald Advertisers.
3—Buy early in the season and early in the day.
4—Send packages two weeks ahead marked "Not to be opened until Christmas."

5—Minister to actual needs. Give chiefly to children.
6—Choose presents having either usefulness or beauty.
7—Demand articles which have been made and sold under conditions fair and wholesome to the worker.
8—Remember that Christmas is of noble memory, not an occasion for display.

There are one or two more that might be added: That Christmas shoppers show regard for the tired and hardworked salespeople in those rushing days; That courtesy all around will add to the general Christmas feeling.

THE GROWTH OF PORTSMOUTH

Hon. E. Dana Durand, director of the Census bureau at Washington, has kindly furnished us with a statement of the population of Portsmouth according to the return of each decennial federal census from 1790 to 1900, as follows:

Census of 1790	4,720
Census of 1800	5,339
Census of 1810	6,934
Census of 1820	7,321
Census of 1830	8,072
Census of 1840	7,557
Census of 1850	9,735
Census of 1860	9,335
Census of 1870	9,211
Census of 1880	9,690
Census of 1890	9,821
Census of 1900	10,627

The gain has been less than one thousand in the second half of the nineteenth century.

Portsmouth's destiny is as a harbor city. That is manifest to any body who is acquainted with our location. Other cities more favorably situated as to connections with the great interior of the United States have been passing Portsmouth and leaving us far in the rear. Today those cities are finding their harbors too shallow to accommodate the ships that carry the ocean traffic of modern business.

Portsmouth has the needed depth of water. Some day the growth of Portsmouth will be by leaps and bounds and apparently that day is not far distant.

Those other cities want to hold their traffic.

There has been a persistent series of public misrepresentation of the harbor facilities of Portsmouth, in connection with a series of navy yard articles published in the last few years in magazines and papers from some of the big cities.

Is it possible that these attacks on the navy yard were inspired by the desire to hold commerce where it is and prevent it being transferred to the deep water harbor of Portsmouth? Certainly it looks peculiar that those attacks come at a time that it looks as if Portsmouth's commercial destiny may be about to be achieved.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS

Governor Augustus E. Wilson of Kentucky, acting as chairman of a committee to fix the date and place of the second annual conference of governors, to discuss natural resources, has announced that it will be held on Jan. 18, 1910, at Washington. This news is sent out from the capital city of Kentucky, but it looks like an error. The conference of governors is not likely to be held at a time when legislatures are in session in Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New York, Rhode Island, and South Carolina.

The resignation of Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson from membership in the First Church of Christ Scientist, of which she was the former leader, and from the board of trustees of the church, was accepted by the board at a special meeting on Wednesday night.

is a wonderful food-medicine for all ages of mankind. It will make the delicate, sickly baby strong and well—it will give the pale anemic girl rosy cheeks and rich, red blood. It will put flesh on the bones of the tired, overworked, thin man, and will keep the aged man or woman in condition to resist colds or pneumonia in the winter.

Fattening

Chickens.

THAT is worth enough on market poultry that some men are making a business of buying fowls from the farmers and fattening them for market. It is an indisputable fact that the average lot of fowl marketed from the farms has received little or no attention to fattening. The farmer simply picks them out from the main flock when the butcher comes around in his wagon, and the birds are weighed and sent off in a half-fat condition. The expert fattener figures that if he can make only 10 cents a bird profit in the process it is a good scheme for him, because he can pick up an unlimited number of fowls in poor condition and put a pound or two more weight on them within a very few days or weeks. Hence his operations are limited only by the amount of capital he has to invest, and the fattening business is a method of "turning over" money rapidly.

The lesson in this for the farmer is that he might as well be making this extra money as the other man. In a limited way, no special appliances are required for fattening fowls, and if each farmer were to make only a few dollars annually in this way, considering the thousands of them that read this paper, the aggregate amount would make a very nice "nest egg," indeed.

EXPRESS RATES WRONG

Manchester, Nov. 29.—William Savacool of this city, chairman of the special committee of the state board of trade which is engaged in a fight with the American Express company, for lower rates in New Hampshire, has been notified that his complaint of overcharges on the part of the company, on interstate business is well founded, and officials of the company have been notified by the manager in New York city to see that the schedule of rates filed with the interstate commerce commission is enforced.

This ruling, Mr. Savacool claims will benefit merchants throughout New Hampshire and all others doing an interstate business to and from points more distant than Boston. He declares that it is of far more reaching importance than the case of the state board for a reduction of the rates that is now pending in the superior court.

TONS AND TONS OF TOBACCO

Something About the Immense Crop in the United States

Washington, Nov. 29.—More than 150,000,000 pounds of cigar tobacco and nearly four times that quantity of the other types of tobacco were grown in the United States in 1908; according to a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture.

Kentucky leads all the other states in tobacco grown, producing more than one-third of the crop of the country and about one-ninth of the entire crop of the world. While some tobacco is produced in almost every state, less than 1 per cent of this country's crop is grown west of the Mississippi river, Texas being the only state in that year in which the industry has gained much importance.

BUILDING NEW NAVY HOSPITALS

Second Recommendation Against the Lowest Bidder

Washington, Nov. 29.—The naval hospitals at Chelsea, Mass., Portsmouth, N. H., and Newport, R. I., were recommended Saturday by the chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks.

The chief advised that the work of building the hospitals be awarded to the Noel Construction company. This company was recommended once before, but the lowest bidder protested. The bureau now recommends that the contract should not be divided and that one contractor should do all the work. It is also represented that the lowest bidder is not in a position to do the work.

Efforts will be made to hold another conference with the officials of the road in the near future. The men feel confident that the next meeting will result more satisfactory than the last.

DOES NOT FAVOR WHITE MOUNTAIN RESERVATION

Washington, Nov. 29.—Senator Lodge and Representative Weeks saw the President Saturday to enlist his support in behalf of the White Mountain forest reserve. Mr. Weeks because he introduced the bill which the house passed in the last congress, and Senator Lodge because of the general interest the subject has for New England.

They did not receive much encouragement. Although Mr. Weeks is one of Speaker Cannon's most trusted lieutenants and each has for the other warm personal friendship, they are on opposite sides on this question.

Mr. Cannon has let the President know that he is opposed to the project at this time, and, although the President has a strong liking for Mr. Weeks and greatly respects his judgment, in this case he is more inclined to side with Mr. Cannon than he is with Mr. Weeks.

One of the reasons that induces the President to be at least lukewarm is the question of cost, as he is anxious that congress shall establish a record for economy. It is not regarded as probable that the President will recommend the White Mountain forest reserve in his message to congress.

NEW CASTLE

Beautiful November is Near to Its Close

Large Numbers Will Go to Theatre in Portsmouth

New Castle, Nov. 29. Sunday was a fine November day. Such a rarely lovely month is seldom seen in this vicinity, as this has been nearly all of its existence, having been clear, beautiful sunshiny days. The air is mild and the sunsets glorious while the nights are a glow of soft moonlight and it is a privilege to be out doors. Such a November is indeed a novelty and as perfectly lovely as can be imagined or desired.

Rev. H. Martin Kologue preached a most interesting sermon in the Congregational church on Sunday taken from John 3 chapter, 16 verse.

B. F. Curtis of Lynn passed Sunday with his mother.

Mr. Ashton Amazeen and George Guphill enjoyed a spin on their wheels to Hampton Beach and back on Sunday.

Mrs. Winslow Amazeen, who has been seriously ill with acute indigestion, is reported more comfortable. Dr. Jenkins is in attendance.

Miss Ethel Dore, Miss Nellie Winn and William Winn of Portsmouth passed Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Poole.

Mr. Fred Hill has moved his family to South Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harrison of Portsmouth passed Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Giles.

Mr. Edwin Rand is enlarging the piazza to his well appointed residence.

Mr. Oscar Johnson and children of Portsmouth and Mr. Philip Emery and son of Kittery were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. White on Sunday.

Mrs. George Leonard, who has been the guest of Mrs. Eliza Rand, has returned to her home in Portsmouth.

Mrs. Adeline Healy, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Florence Eaton, has returned to her home in First Candia.

The Whiteside-Strauss Company, one of the shapeliest repertoires attractions that comes to Music Hall for a week's performance will attract a large number from this island town nightly. Last year a number from the town attended their production of "A King of Tramps" which unquestionably is one of the best ever offered at modest prices. As the story proceeds there are many thrilling climaxes filled with brightest wit in which the partisans do effective dramatic work.

Our Idea in Advertising

Is not so much to sell a Suit or Overcoat as it is to get a customer. There is a big difference between selling a man a suit and getting him for a regular customer.

But our object is to sell a man such a good suit the first time that he comes back for another one next season, and keeps coming back until he gets the habit of coming,—a habit that he finds too good to break.

There are many things about our Suits and Overcoats that we could tell you, but long years of experience tells us, that a satisfied customer is one of the best advertisements a Tailor can have.

Let us make you a Suit or Overcoat this season.

ARMY AND NAVY TO OCCUPY NICARAGUA

Orders Expected to this Effect Within a Few Days. Marines and Sailors to Be Used Backed by Army.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Plans for putting United States regular troops into Nicaragua were completed Saturday by the War Department. As soon as the expected word is received from the State Department a large force of regulars will be hurried forward to occupy the republic. Orders have been given to assemble transports on the Pacific side.

At short notice this government is prepared to land a fighting force of more than 1,500 marines and sailors. Within two days that number can be increased by some six hundred, and inside of a week there can be poured into Nicaragua from the naval force a number approximating 2,500 men.

It is figured that an occupation by army troops can be completed within less than ten days.

Secretary Knox had a long conference Saturday with President Taft on the Central American revolt. It was soon after the Secretary returned to his Department that unusual activity was noticeable among the big officials of the War Department. Sec.

Hampton Roads and are to sail at one o'clock this afternoon for the South. These boats have received a thorough overhauling at the yard. The new fire control masts which were installed a short time ago also required a few adjustments.

The two scout cruisers Birmingham and Salem are awaiting orders for a European cruise. The Birmingham is in dry dock undergoing repairs to her propeller and having her bottom repainted. These boats are equipped with the strongest wireless apparatus afloat. The object of the European cruise is to try the experiment of keeping in touch with the wireless station at Brest Rock from the distance of 3000 miles.

The new torpedo boat destroyer Blücher, which has been in commission in three weeks, and which made the phenomenal record of 33 knots on her trial trip, will leave for Charleston, S. C., about Tuesday.

Besides these, there are five new submarines which have been in commission but three days. These are the Grayling, Stingray, Tarpon, Bowfin and the Snapper. They will be conveyed to Charleston, S. C., by the Castine early next week.

By next Sunday the Illinois, now out of commission, will be the only big ship at the yard. Congress has appropriated a half million dollars to rest her.

STOMACH MISERY JUST VANISHES

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapiesin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapiesin, then you will readily see why it makes indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from indigestion and dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common everyday cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe their is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefies in the digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poisons the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapiesin.

BATTLESHIP WISCONSIN SAILS

The United States battleship Wisconsin, Captain Beatty, U. S. N., commanding, sailed at 1:30 Sunday afternoon from the navy yard, for Newport, R. I.

The big ship was pulled away from her dock by the tug M. Mitchell Davis, and taken below by yard Pilot T. E. Evans. Her departure was witnessed by a large number of spectators at the yard and on the New Castle shore, and as usual she steamed down river and out to sea without a hitch.

The battleship will stop at Newport training station and take on a large number of apprentices and then will proceed to Hampton Roads, where the fleet will shortly gather.

The departure of the battleship before the Christmas holidays is greatly regretted by the families of the officers and crew, who are living in this city, the ship's home port.

A NEW MARINE ENGINE

Will Give American Navy Ships the Lead in Speed

Rear Admiral Melville, who for years was the chief engineer of the United States navy, has invented a new gearing device which, it is asserted, will enable high speed turbine engines to be used on ships of all sizes and speeds in connection with slow revolving propellers.

A propeller can only turn in the water at about one-fifth of the speed at which the turbine begins to give best results, and as at present turbines have to be run as slowly as the direct driven propeller there is great waste and correspondingly increased cost.

No known form of gear could resist the tremendous power and speed of the turbine, and five years ago Admiral Melville started out to find some way of overcoming the difficulty. It is claimed that he has succeeded beyond all expectation and that his invention sounds the death knell of the reciprocating type of engine.

Some idea of the enormous saving in size and weight of engines thus increasing the speed and carrying capacity of the vessel, claimed for the new invention may be gathered from the fact that a modern turbine engine of 3,000 brake horsepower, 1,000 revolutions per minute, weighs twenty-seven tons. The new gearing device of Admiral Melville weighs twenty-five tons, making a total of fifty-two tons as against 150 tons of a similarly powerful reciprocating engine. The turbine with its gear, would also take up less than half the space occupied by the type of engine now in general use on merchant vessels. So far the turbine has only been used on ocean greyhounds or war vessels where the greatest speed was sought regardless of cost.

This is exactly what Admiral Melville and his associate, John H. Macalpine, claim to have done. Their invention consists of a form and application of reduction gear and a "floating frame" for holding it in place and keeping it in alignment so that a turbine can make 1,000 revolutions a minute and the propeller shaft 260 revolutions a minute. It gears down in the ratio of 5 in 1 and as propellers of special design can be successfully driven at 300 revolutions, this would permit the use of turbines making as high as 1,500 revolutions which is about the point of high efficiency of a marine turbine.

It is stated that the adoption of the Melville-Macalpine gear would enable the Mauretania to add two knots to her present speed without increasing her coal consumption, or to make a considerable saving in coal while maintaining her present speed. A series of authentic tests shows that the new gear makes for economy of steam consumption unprecedented in turbine practice.

The United States government has recently awarded contracts for two turbine battleships. It has required that the steam consumption shall be guaranteed not to exceed 14 1/2 lbs. per horse power transmitted to the propeller shaft. It is claimed by the inventors that with their gear a shaft horsepower can be developed on less than 11 pounds of steam.

"Were the United States government," said George Westinghouse recently, "to apply this type of marine turbine to the large 28,000 ton battleship for which contracts have only just been let we would have the fastest battleships yet projected by any nation."

WAR MINING OF HARBORS
Coast Defence Corps Prepared for Any Emergency

The progress which has been made in the development of harbor defence by submarine mines in the last few years is hardly realized by any who have not kept in close touch with the administration of the coast defence corps under General Arthur Murray, its chief. Up to a comparatively few years ago this branch of the coast defence had been little developed, and rough estimates of the funds required to bring it up to date called for appallingly large appropriations. By the exercise of energy and ingenuity, however, the coast defence corps has succeeded in developing a system of submarine defence at reasonable expense. The first problem which confronted the officers charged with this class of work was to secure an adequate number of vessels with which to teach the system and to perform the work of mine planting. Congress has been induced to provide eight large mine-planting vessels, available for educational purposes, as well as for the actual work. In addition seventeen smaller vessels averaging about a hundred feet in length have been provided.

The most carefully sealed estimate showed the necessity of at least forty additional vessels for use in time of war. Apart from the cost of construction, these vessels would have caused an annual expense for maintenance of probably $125,000, and it was not deemed wise to ask Congress for the necessary funds. In order to meet this difficulty, however, General Murray prevailed on the secretary of Commerce and Labor to designate thirty-one "lighthouse tenders for use as mine planters in the event of hostilities, and one the quartermaster's department to designate ten of its vessels for a similar purpose. This much accomplished, the necessary paraphernalia fitted to the vessels so designated, and the necessary means of attachment such as sockets, etc., placed thereon, but the machinery itself is stored in suitable warehouses in the districts in which these vessels are stationed, as are also the mines which they would plant should the occasion arise. By this method the coast artillery is saved the cost of maintenance for forty-one vessels which would, however, be immediately available should the occasion demand.

MOODY STILL FEEBLE
Date Not Set for Return to Bench of Supreme Court

The Boston Transcript Washington correspondent says that Congressman Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts is awaiting with the most anxious interest the return of Justice William H. Moody of the supreme court. For years the two men, both bachelors have lived together and neither has seemed desirous—as far as the public could be sure of—of exchanging this comfortable relation for any other.

For several seasons the pair have lived in the Connecticut apartment house on Connecticut avenue and M. Street, but last winter Mr. Gillett struck out for himself and bought a house at 1225 Eighteenth street, N. W. It is a very modest looking affair from the outside, but its interior, they say, resembles a hotel; and now the Springfield statesman wanders disconsolately through his spacious chambers and wonders when the judge will return.

For a long time the friends of Justice Moody had given up all hope that he would see Washington again, but within the last two weeks reassuring news of a change for the better has come from Massachusetts, and the Bay state twins, as they are often called, expect to be reunited.

NEW HAMPSHIRE APPLES

Hollis, Nov. 23.—The Hollis apple is fast becoming famous, and another award of prizes has been made to Charles E. Hardy, proprietor of the Brookdale fruit farm, this time being in competition with fruit from all the principal fruit growing states in the union, at the New York show.

Having won the Governor Draper silver cup at the New England fruit show at Boston, for the best display of Baldwin apples, besides a number of other first and second premiums, with a notable fact that every exhibit won a prize, few exhibits were sent to the New Hampshire horticultural show at Peterborough, and Mr. Hardy won first prize for the best box of Baldwin as a leading feature of his part of the fruit show.

Two plates of apples after having been exhibited at the New Hampshire show were sent to the New York fruit exhibit of the New York College of Agriculture, where they were awarded the first prize for Baldwin.

The Scrap Book

Wanting In Grit.
At one of the fashionable seaside resorts on a beautiful evening last summer a handsome couple promenade the beach until they were tired and then threw themselves on the sand to rest. The young woman watched the waves, while the young man toyed with the moonlit sand, tossing it from hand to hand.

"Reginald, dear, you puckered up your lips just then as if you were going to kiss me," said the beautiful creature languorously as she glanced at her companion.

"I intended to," replied Reginald hesitatingly, "but I seem to have got some sand in my mouth."

"For heaven's sake, swallow it," exclaimed the young lady. "You need it badly in your system!"

It Pays.
It pays to wear a smiling face
And laugh our troubles down,
For all our little trials wait
Our laughter or our frown.
Beneath the magic of a smile
Our doubts all fade away
As with the first to airy spring
Beneath the sunny ray.
It pays to make a worthy cause
By making it our own,
To give the current of our lives
A true and noble tone.
It pays to comfort heavy hearts
Oppressed with dull despair
And leave in sorrow darkened lines
A gleam of brightness there.
—Fannie E. Fennell.

A Bridal Tour.
At a fashionable wedding in a southern city the contracting parties were a wealthy widower and a handsome young lady, and a faithful old servant who had lived with the first wife all her married life was reporting the festivities confidentially the next morning to a neighbor.

When she finished a fellow servant asked, "Is he going to take a bridal tour?"

The old woman looked startled and then, glancing around to see that no one was near, whispered, "Well, I don't know ex he will take a bride to her if she gets cantankerous, but he sure did take a strip to the other one."

A Tragedy at the Parsonage.
A present of a pair of chickens to a country parsonage where there were a large family and a small income was an event, and the youngest two children (who were usually put to bed with a simple meal) were promised a share in the family treat; but unfortunately, two neighboring ministers dropped in, and the children's mother had to compromise with the little people. A promise of candy pacified them to wait until the older people were through.

At the table the chicken was fast disappearing, when the door, which had been suspiciously creaking for some time, was flung wide open. Two faces glared at the visitors, while two childish voices shouted in unison: "Go ahead; that's right! Eat it all up, boys!"

Wonderful.
A German university doctor, desiring to see a bird catcher exercise his employment, accompanied him to the field. As soon as he saw the birds he hooted in Latin:

"There they are!"
The birds took the alarm. The sportsman, indignant at the absurdity of the professor, told him of it in very plain terms.

"My good friend," exclaimed the doctor in great astonishment, "who would have imagined that birds would understand Latin?"

An Injustice.

An order prohibiting gambling among the enlisted men detailed at the West Point Military academy caused, it would appear, much trouble for certain of the soldiers there. An old sergeant of a negro regiment who was sent to the post suggested a game of craps soon after his arrival. Other soldiers told him of the rule against gambling and refused to join in the game. "Dis yer ain't right," said the new arrival, "an' Ah'll see de cap'n 'bout it." Upon being admitted to the commanding officer's room the sergeant said, with some show of heat: "Cap'n, Ah understand dat gamblin' ain't loved here no mo'."

"That's correct," said the officer. "Well, dat's a injustice to enlisted men, sah, 'cause I's got a large family to support."

True Religion.
True religion grows more and more anxious to declare that religion is not something foreign to humanity; that it is simply the fullest utterance of human life; that all human life which is not religious falls below itself.—Phillips Brooks.

First Aid to Illiterates.
Uncle Joe Cannon had an amusing experience with a writer in a Kansas City hotel during his last visit to that city. Being in no mood to select his dinner, he had tossed aside, after a glance, the menu presented to him by his waiter, saying:

"Bring me a good dinner."
Incidentally, Uncle Joe slipped the man a big tip in advance.
This report, proving satisfactory, the speaker pursued the same plan during the remainder of his stay in Kansas City. As he was leaving the servant remarked earnestly as he helped him on with his overcoat:

"I beg your pardon, sir, but when you or any of your friends that can't read come to Kansas City just ask for Tom."

AT NAVY YARD

Sterling will Stay for Repairs

The New Hampshire to Sail Dec. 15

The Government Wants $2.60 Returned

Having a Vacation Daniel Casey, coachman for the commandant, is enjoying a vacation in Manchester, N. H.

Who Wants Some Lumber?

The navy department is at loss to find a way to dispose of the live oak timber in the mud basin at Boston yard which has been there since the Civil war.

No one wants the timber and the highest bidders, who have periodically offered to remove it, have only taken away the most useful pieces and abandoned the project which they could easily do without loss, since they were not under bond.

What Will the Harvest Be?

The most important thing that is heard about the yard at present is what will the result of the Swift board be. No document was ever so eagerly awaited by officials and everybody is looking for surprises regardless of what has been printed in the press relative to the matter.

Sail Middle of Month

According to the reports the sailing orders for the New Hampshire direct that the ship will sail from this port on Dec. 15.

Work on the Sterling

The Sterling which arrived on Sunday with coal is in need of repairs to her machinery mostly and will stay at the yard for three weeks or more for the same.

Busy at Hospital

Two surgical operations were performed by the force at the naval hospital today.

Wants $2.60 Handed Back to the Government

The comptroller of the treasury has informed the general auditor of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company that the corporation must refund an over-payment of $2.60 in transportation of two men between Washington and Portsmouth navy yard, although the railroad claimed a set-off by reason of under-payment in another case, the company being able to substantiate their claim by published tariffs. The comptroller advises the corporation that, it having accepted a settlement of the accounts in which they now show an under-payment, the accounting officers of the government are barred from making any refund. On the other hand, the supreme court has already passed upon the liability attaching to those who receive unauthorized payments from the government, and, under the law, the railroad must return the over-payment.—Army and Navy Register.

Going to Make Another Try

Information received at the Navy department indicates that a final trial is shortly to be made to raise the Yankoe. The delay in completing this rescue of the wrecked vessel has been caused by the necessity of strengthening one of the decks so as to make all parts of the ship airtight in order to apply the method of pumping in air and expelling the water and so bringing the vessel to the surface. This work is in charge of Assistant Naval Constructor William B. Ferguson, U. S. Navy, and hopes are entertained of the success of the effort.

Says They Delayed Work

The secretary of the navy has acted on the reports of dissension, which, it is alleged, existed among certain employees in the engineering department of the Mare Island navy yard. It was reported to the Navy department some weeks ago that certain members of the civil force were obstructing the naval constructor in the exercise of his authority as manager of that plant. The official communications, which were exchanged between Mare Island and Washington, involved Naval constructor H. A. Evans, head of the department of construction and repair, and Commander C. A. Carr, head of the department of steam engineering at Mare Island. It was charged that a master boilermaker, named Kavanaugh, and an assistant named Coletti, recently discharged, had purposely delayed work, and otherwise sought to embarrass the administration of the plant.—Army and Navy Register.

WEDDED TODAY

Miss Elizabeth E. McCann Weds D. O. Brown

Ceremony at the Church of the Immaculate Conception

At 8 o'clock this morning another very pretty wedding occurred at the Church of the Immaculate Conception where Miss Elizabeth E. McCann became the wife of Daniel O'Brien of Mobile, Ala., in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Edward J. Walsh, P. R., who also performed the sacred rite making the couple one for life.

The bride wore a traveling suit of grey chiffon broadcloth, waist of white duchess lace and hat of white French felt, trimmed with white ostrich plumes.

Miss Nellie T. Laffey of Somerville, Mass., was bridesmaid, and wore a suit of green broadcloth with hat to match.

The best man was Terrence V. Cornack, a close friend of the groom.

Immediately following the marriage the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride on State street where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was enjoyed and an outpouring of congratulations extended to the couple. The gifts displayed were costly and numerous, which gave evidence of the esteem and popularity of the contracting parties.

The groom is at present located at New Castle and connected with the 15th Company Coast Artillery, as a non-commissioned officer. He is known among his comrades and his friends in this city for his manly qualities and his genial disposition.
